Chair Tokuda, Vice Chairs Dela Cruz, and members of the committee:

The University of Hawai'i (UH) and the Department of Education have been working together cooperatively to address teacher shortages in Hawai'i, and will continue to do so in developing programming and educational supports for educational assistants and substitute teachers to earn teaching degrees. UH, however, points out that stipend funding would require additional resources.

Thank you for the opportunity to provide comments.

COREY ROSENLEE, PRESIDENT
HAWAII STATE TEACHERS ASSOCIATION

Chair Kidani, Chair Kahele, and Members of the Committee:

The Hawaii State Teachers Association supports SCR 138/SR 59, requesting the Department of Education and University of Hawai'i system to develop programming and educational supports for educational assistants and long-term substitute teachers to earn teaching degrees and become full-time certified teachers.

Hawai'i is experiencing a teacher shortage crisis. From 2011 to 2014, the DOE suffered an average of 359 unfilled vacancies per year. Yet, departmental data showed 531 vacancies for the 2016-2017 school year, a 45 percent increase from the 2013-14 school year.

Educational assistants are equipped with many of the fundamental skills necessary to embark on a successful teaching career. Many EAs assist with small group instruction, support students with disabilities, and perform administrative tasks needed to provide a quality learning environment.

Already, Leeward Community College offers an Associate in Arts in Teaching program that offers a Special Education/Inclusive Education Certificate with credits that are transferable to a state-approved teacher education program. Similarly, the INPEACE Kulia and Ka Lama Education Academy develops educational assistants along the Waianae Coast, a hard-to-fill area for the DOE's recruitment and retention efforts.

Substitute teachers, too, can become effective full-time educators. Substitutes with at least a bachelor's degree have already demonstrated subject matter mastery and may be encouraged to become classroom teachers, if the high the cost of completing a state approved teacher education program can be mitigated. A 2014 study conducted by the New America Foundation found that "the average newly minted teacher in 2012 has to pay $429 a month in student debt payments."

To help stem our teacher shortage crisis, the Hawaii State Teachers Association asks your committee to support this resolution.

TESTIMONY BEFORE THE
THE SENATE COMMITTEE ON WAYS AND MEANS

PERSON TESTIFYING: Lynn Hammonds, as an Individual

DATE: Tuesday, April 4, 2017

TIME: 9:45 a.m.

LOCATION: State Capitol Conference Room 211

TITLE: SCR NO. 138

PURPOSE OF BILL:

REQUESTING THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION AND UNIVERSITY OF HAWAII SYSTEM TO DEVELOP PROGRAMMING AND EDUCATIONAL SUPPORTS FOR EDUCATIONAL ASSISTANTS AND LONG-TERM SUBSTITUTE TEACHERS TO EARN TEACHING DEGREES AND BECOME FULL-TIME CERTIFIED TEACHERS.

Chair Tokuda, Vice Chair Dela Cruz and Members of the Committee:

I strongly support SCR138 to encourage educational assistants and long-term substitutes to become licensed teachers, with the assistance of stipends for their professional education coursework and degree completion. Unlicensed individuals have reported that a major roadblock to completion of a teacher preparation program or a bachelor's degree is the "up front" cost of tuition. These stipends will help eliminate that challenge and encourage them to become licensed teachers willing to serve in their own communities in Hawaii public schools.

Thank you for your support of education in offering this bill and for the opportunity to testify.
