In consideration of
HOUSE BILL 1009
RELATING TO CERTAIN PENALTIES FOR VIOLATION OF SUBTITLE 4 OF TITLE 12, HAWAII REVISED STATUTES

House Bill 1009 proposes to: (1) Amend fines for destroying or harvesting trees or tree products, including koa, on state forest reserve lands to an amount up to $10,000 or three times the market value at the time and place of the violation, as determined by the Board of Land and Natural Resources, for each tree, whichever is greater, in addition to any costs associated with restoration or replacement of the habitat and damages to public land or natural resources, or any combination thereof.; (2) Clarify that any person violating any provision of PART II (Forest Reserves) of Chapter 183, Hawaii Revised Statutes (HRS), or any rule adopted thereto, other than Section 183-17, HRS, shall be guilty of a petty misdemeanor; (3) Clarify penalties for traffic infraction within forest reserves and set fine amounts; and (4) Repeal the general penalty provision of Section 183-4, HRS. The Department of Land and Natural Resources (Department) strongly supports this Administration measure.

The Department proposes to amend several sections of Chapter 183, HRS. The proposed revisions will address outdated fine amounts, improve enforcement ability, and streamline penalties throughout the chapter. Below is a summary of the bill amendments and what they would mean for the management and protection of the forest reserve system.

- 1) Updates administrative fines for theft of forest products to be more closely aligned with current market value for those products. The fine amounts were last updated in 2006 and since then the market value for several forest products have substantially increased, including for koa and 'iliahi. The current administrative fine amounts are so far below the value of the product, the fine is not a successful deterrent to theft of the trees. The proposed revision would allow the Board of Land and Natural Resources to assess the current market value of the product when determining fine amounts.

- 2) Authorizes the issuance of criminal penalties for violations in the forest reserve system. Presently, the Department only has authority to issue criminal penalties for timber theft, limiting our ability to enforce administrative rule violations. This proposal would strengthen the Department's enforcement capabilities and the protection of Hawaii's natural resources.
- 3) The bill proposes to streamline minor offenses including traffic violations and makes it consistent with other land areas managed by the Department (e.g.: State Parks).
- 4) Cleans up and clarifies duplicative language within the chapter regarding general and civil penalties.

Thank you for the opportunity to comment on this measure.
