The Honorable Joseph M. Souki,
Speaker and Members of the House of Representatives
Twenty-Seventh State Legislature
State Capitol, Room 431
Honolulu, Hawaii 96813

Dear President Kim, Speaker Souki, and Members of the Legislature:

Re: SB2682 SD1 HD2 CD1

SB2682 SD1 HD2 CD1, entitled “A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO FINANCIAL DISCLOSURE STATEMENTS” will become law without my signature, pursuant to Section 16 of Article III of the State Constitution.

The purpose of this bill is to amend section 84-17, Hawaii Revised Statutes, to make the financial disclosure statements of members of fourteen specifically identified boards and commissions available for public inspection and copying. In addition, this bill limits the source of income information for the spouse and children of those individuals whose financial disclosure statements are public to the name of the income source.

Like Governors Cayetano and Lingle, who vetoed substantially similar measures, I find this bill will adversely affect the State’s ability to attract the most qualified individuals from serving on boards and commissions. Service on nearly all of the additional boards and commissions identified in this bill is voluntary and uncompensated. Public disclosure of confidential financial information will make it difficult to convince knowledgeable and competent individuals to serve on these boards and commissions.
Members of boards and commissions are currently required to file annual financial disclosure statements with the Ethics Commission that are not subject to public disclosure. This filing requirement balances the public interest with the right of a board or commission member to keep confidential his or her business and financial information.

Safeguards are currently in place to help ensure ethical behavior on the part of board and commission members. They are subject to confirmation by the State Senate and during the confirmation process, the Senate has the opportunity to make certain that the individuals who are confirmed will abide by the highest ethical standards.

Subsequently, after confirmation by the State Senate, boards and commissions are subject to the Sunshine Law, which requires that the public is given reasonable notice of their meetings and that meetings are open to the public. Thus, members of the public have an opportunity to raise conflict of interest concerns they may have and they may also file a complaint with the State Ethics Commission.

Additionally, this bill, as written, would take effect upon approval and thereby apply to current members of boards and commissions. Subjecting current members of boards and commissions to the public disclosure of their private business and financial information now, after they agreed to serve and were confirmed by the Senate, or alternatively, causing them to resign if they do not agree to the required public disclosure, is unfair.

When it comes to the role of volunteer participation in the policy and decision-making process of governing in a democracy, the power of government to intrude in people's lives becomes far more than a technical issue. It goes beyond labels of left and right. The whole rationale of democratic governance, after all, is to ensure the protection of individual rights, particularly in matters of personal information and dignity.

Having a participatory role in government as a volunteer, calling on one's experience and background in the service of the public interest, should not be a gauntlet to be run. In this digital age, there needs to be a sensitivity to what data can be collected and sifted through internet scavenging about private citizens in a volunteer role. Potential volunteers may well ask what will I or my family suffer from those who have a political agenda that is uninterested in my qualifications or motivations but seek to advance their cause without limit to their demand for information.
There are tough issues to be considered in this bill with competing values: Legitimate inquiry into possible conflicts regarding the public interest versus legitimate concerns about personal information on family, finances, credit history and medical records becoming cannon fodder in political battles.

It seems reasonable in these circumstances then, to allow this bill to become law with the object of reviewing the disclosure documents to determine what information serves the public interest, what limitations are relevant and most importantly, what constitutes conflict. The issue then is not about disclosure, but to what end and by what means.

For the foregoing reasons, SB2682 SD1 HD2 CD1 will become law as ACT 230, Session Laws of Hawaii 2014, effective July 8, 2014, without my signature.

Sincerely,

[Signature]

NEIL ABERCROMBIE
Governor, State of Hawaii
A BILL FOR AN ACT
