The National Kidney Foundation of Hawaii is respectfully requesting a $2.5 million capital grant to complete the Daniel K. Akaka Program and Community Center in Kapolei, Hawaii. The NKFH's current location does not have the space necessary to serve the nearly 200,000 people in Hawaii already diagnosed with chronic kidney disease. This grant would complete the major capital campaign, and provide the most important opportunity in the state to create sustainable systemic change in order to improve the health outcomes of 1 in every 5 Hawaiian residents.

II. Background and Summary

This section shall clearly and concisely summarize and highlight the contents of the request in such a way as to provide the State Legislature with a broad understanding of the request. Please include the following:

1. A brief description of the applicant’s background;

Hawaii European Cinema (HEC) is a 501(c )(3) nonprofit of film and theatre industry experts who bring the best of European and Asian Cinema, as well as Hollywood luminaries, to Hawaii in an event that is completely free to the public and offered for the enjoyment of all. HEC is dedicated to cultural exchanges between the people of Europe, Asia and Hawaii through film, and to providing financial support to Hawaii-based creative media students. It also raises awareness among international filmmakers to the many benefits and resources available to filmmakers in Hawaii.
Applicant: HAWAII EUROPEAN CINEMA

The Hawaii European Film Festival is a biennial event that showcases at least 40 of the very best films from throughout Europe and Asia, and was last held in March of 2017. Honorees attending included the incomparable Madame Catherine Deneuve, legendary actor Pierce Brosnan and his wife, broadcast journalist and film director, Keely Brosnan, Nancy Kwan (Flower Drum Song), talent agent Shep Gordon, and one of Asia’s fastest rising film stars, Ludi Lin.

The next festival will be held in Honolulu from September 23, 2019 through September 29, 2019, and our invited guest of honor is acting legend, Al Pacino. The Hawaii European Film Festival is patterned after the famed film festivals of Cannes, Venice and Berlin, with the same richness and elegance of art and enjoyment. Hawaii European Cinema endeavors to further promote the art of filmmaking and support emerging generations of filmmakers and cinema lovers, as well as a diversified global film industry education.

According to local European consulates, Hawaii is home to more than 38,000 people who came to Hawaii from Europe, and more than 155,000 foreign-born Asians. Hawaii European Cinema is virtually the only opportunity they have to see highest-caliber films from their own countries. Hawaii European Cinema has brought more than 90 award-winning films to Hawaii over the past decade from a wide variety of countries, including France, Austria, Germany, Great Britain, Switzerland, Italy, Norway, Ukraine and Belgium, China, Korea, Thailand, Japan and Hong Kong. With funding support from grants, sponsorship, and private donations, HEC provides these films in routinely sold-out screenings to the public free of charge for their enjoyment and education.

HEC also works closely with the University of Hawaii Film School, and provides generous scholarships funded by The Hawaii Foreign Press Association to support students attending the University of Hawaii Academy for Creative Media. Hawaii’s only European and Asian Film Festival continues to thrive with broad local community support, while garnering global film industry acclaim.

2. The goals and objectives related to the request;

In a recent interview with Georja Skinner, Division Chief at Creative Industries Hawaii, Department of Business Economic Development & Tourism, she reported that Hawaii has seen a big surge in film and television production over the past two years, with 2018 spending hitting an estimated $438 million and generating some $757 million in local economic impact, including household impact, and an estimated $48 million in state taxes. Total jobs are estimated at over 4,800, including employment for some of our most talented young filmmakers and film students—thereby helping to keep them here in Hawaii.

According to Skinner, Hawaii has extended effective refundable tax credits to the industry for another seven years in order to support this growing momentum. The credit, which has been in effect since 2007, equals 20% of qualified production costs on Oahu, and 25% on the other Hawaiian Islands. This income has prompted greater support for U.H.'s Creative Lab programs, an initiative designed to develop home-grown talent, including plans for a 30-acre studio facility. The biennial Hawaii European Film Festival is a critical part of bringing this unmatched income stream into Hawaii.

2019 will be the Tenth Anniversary of the Hawaii European Film Festival. Hawaii European Cinema has never received any state, federal or City & County funding, and this is only the second time that we have applied for State GIA funding. This very popular week-long event is free to the public, and is very popular with both Asian and European visitors, as well as kama'aina. It is common for every single available seat to be filled at each showing. For that reason, this grant is sought to expand the festival's movie offerings so that many more residents and visitors can enjoy this unique opportunity to view these classic films.

3. The public purpose and need to be served;

The economic impact of encouraging a growing film industry in Hawaii cannot be ignored. Basically it has a mighty economic impact (over $750,000,000 in 2017 alone), without requiring a significant state government financial investment. This event brings in not only Hollywood elite, but also filmmakers from all over Asian, Europe and the mainland, and introduces them to the best that Hawaii has to offer in the form of economic support, local business resources, young filmmakers, experienced actors of all ages, and unparalleled locations to film all across the state.

The Hawaii European Film Festival is very popular with Hawaii audiences. The viewings are offered to the public free of charge, but are routinely packed to capacity, and many would-be viewers are disappointed. HEC is seeking support to not only increase capacity, but much more importantly, to develop the sustainable funding needed to make many more films and film-viewing opportunities available in the future to Hawaii's people and our visitors.

Perhaps most importantly, HEC works closely with the University of Hawaii and local film makers in order to give back to the community of young local film students, including underprivileged, who have an interest in the cinematic world, and who want to make the film industry their career. Through HEC, students are (1) given unparalleled access to guest lecturers' who are leaders in the film industry – as well as celebrities, instructors, and actors, (2) they have an otherwise unmatched opportunity to submit films to a wide audience for viewing and appreciation, and finally, (3) they earn strong scholarship support to continue their cinematic education here in Hawaii.
Applicant: HAWAII EUROPEAN CINEMA

4. Describe the target population to be served; and

There are an estimated 78,895 foreign-born citizens living in Hawaii, including more than 38,000 Europeans living on Oahu. Despite our nonprofit name, HEC has also integrated some of the best in Asian filmmaking in recent years as well, and has drawn an even larger audience from the 18.1% of our population born in Asia and Europe. They and their children and families rarely have an opportunity to view the best of Asian and European cinema, and almost never on the big screen. The Hawaii European Film Festival provides that opportunity to all.

Hawaii has also become a favorite destination for filmmakers, and it is no surprise that we have a thriving culture of film students-in-training, many of whom attend the prestigious University of Hawaii Academy for Creative Media. For these students, access to European and Asian films of distinction are often very limited, and when available, is very expensive. The Hawaii European Film Festival gives them a unique – and completely free - opportunity to learn from some of the industry’s best directors, actors, and view their films from many different countries.

Last, but not least, with recognition from the Hollywood Foreign Press and the filmmaking elite, Hawaii’s European Film Festival has earned a reputation nationally for being one of the most prestigious and best presented foreign film festivals in the United States. For this reason, it draws literally thousands of visitors from Hollywood, Europe, the mainland and many Asian countries as well. Over the past several years, the dramatic increase in faithful Asian and European visitors who attend the Festival have made it clear that Hawaii’s event has reached a clearly defined and exciting level of international recognition for its cinematic offerings and educational opportunities.

5. Describe the geographic coverage.

Currently the HEC Film Festival is held on Oahu, and an estimated 420 outer island residents (based upon our participant surveys) come to Oahu to attend each festival. With expanded funding, the Festival may be presented in the future at outer-island locations such as the Maui Arts & Cultural Center, the historic Palace Theater in Hilo, and the 500-seat Honoka’a People’s Theatre. Doing so will not only make these films more accessible to many more people, but also will encourage the visiting filmmakers to see more of what our outer islands have to offer in the way of unmatched spectacular filming locations.

III. Service Summary and Outcomes

The Service Summary shall include a detailed discussion of the applicant’s approach to the request. The applicant shall clearly and concisely specify the results, outcomes, and measures of effectiveness from this request. The applicant shall:
1. Describe the scope of work, tasks and responsibilities;

Two years of hard work and careful planning go into each Hawaii European Film Festival. HEC’s Board of Directors includes:

Dr. Aida Takla-O’Reilly who, as the four-times-past-President of the Hollywood Foreign Press, was the Producer of the Golden Globes in Hollywood.

Princess Dialta Alliata Di Montereale is the Italian-born founder, and driving force behind the film festival, and namesake of the coveted annual award honoring the Best Film of Hawaii European Cinema.

Paris-born HEC President Patrick Gey has a highly accomplished career in the luxury fashion sector, working for companies including Christian Dior, Boucheron, Fendi, Versace Hawaii, and Louis Vuitton. His relationships with both the European and the Asian markets make him an invaluable, and very well respected, connection to the European film industry and high-level Asian market interested in the Festival.

Vice President Chris Lee is an award-winning and highly acclaimed motion picture producer (Valkyrie, Superman Returns), the former President of Production of Columbia/TriStar Pictures, and the Founder and Director of the Academy for Creative Media at the University of Hawaii.

There are eight additional Board members, each with similarly illustrious careers and incredible experience (see attached list of Board Members and qualifications). Each member of the Board of Directors contributes to the funding for the Festival — whether it is through cash donations or important in-kind services.

The marketing of the Film Festival is appropriately aggressive, with television, radio, print, web and social media campaigns in Hawaii, the mainland, Europe and Asia. Beginning in 2015, HEC increased our focus on Asian clientele, and saw a significant increase of attendees who came from Hong Kong, Japan, Korea, Thailand and China. The Festival has a very active Facebook page, a constantly updated and award-winning website, and a dedicated social media team delivering multiple updates on content during the days and weeks leading up to, and during the Festival on Twitter, Instagram, and Snapchat. In addition, the Hollywood Foreign Press Association is a Festival sponsor, and as such provides additional marketing blitzes through the HFPA channels. Our enthusiastically supportive media partners for the Festival include HI Luxury Magazine, Waikiki Magazine and Element Media; the Honolulu Star-Advertiser; The Hollywood Reporter, Variety Magazine, and Hawaii News Now, KITV and KHON for television coverage.

The Festival planning requires careful marketing, research and selection of the films that will be of greatest interest to not only our local market, but also our visitors. The celebrities who attend must be vetted to appeal to a vast market, recruited, and cared for during the Festival. The Gala, which is the key scholarship fundraising event for the Festival, must be carefully planned to appeal to a broad audience. The fundraising responsibilities alone are daunting, but necessary to keep all of the films free so that everyone, from all walks of life, can enjoy and learn from these great moments in film history which show life in countries that are far from us – but which are those countries that many of our citizens here in Hawaii still remember as “home.”

2. Provide a projected annual timeline for accomplishing the results or outcomes of the service;

Preparations are already well underway for the late 2019 Festival. These include public education and media relations for the Festival, and efforts to bring in the funding needed for venues (Ward Theatres in Kaka’ako) to show the films, necessary in order to ensure that the event remains completely free of charge for everyone.

Invitations and arrangements for celebrity guests, related media and fundraising events, are well underway, and opportunities for local film students to prepare and present their best films to a wide audience of both international visitors and kama’aina alike, as well as national and international press. A week-long series of events are being planned, and coordinated with the support of both local and Hollywood Foreign Press to make this one of Hawaii’s most elegant and high profile international events of the year.

\textit{Finally, special emphasis in the planning is made to showcase all that Hawaii has to offer, and to promote the locations, support services, film students, local actors, and other resources available to filmmakers who consider filming in Hawaii.}

After the close of the festival, the dedicated Board of HEC and our volunteers will remain connected with those filmmakers who now have a new or renewed interest in Hawaii as a featured location for filming. We collectively nurture those important relationships, making the necessary connections to important resources that may otherwise be difficult for foreign filmmakers to make while doing their initial planning long distance.

3. Describe its quality assurance and evaluation plans for the request. Specify how the applicant plans to monitor, evaluate, and improve their results; and

Through:

\begin{itemize}
\item The quality and credentials of the Hawaii European Film Festival Actor and Director Honorees;
\item Social media and website metrics about the individual film events and participant feedback;
\item Review of all local and mainland media mentions of the event, as well as all local print, radio and television media;
\item The quality and outreach of the social media marketing campaign
\item Number of attendees at all film events;
\item Results of post-event surveys of the sponsors, members of the Board of Directors, volunteers and honored guests;
\end{itemize}
Applicant: HAWAII EUROPEAN CINEMA

- Tabulated audience survey feedback, including whether participant is a Hawaii resident or a visitor to Hawaii, and if so, from where;
- Spontaneous written testimonials received;
- The Board of Director's Final Report to (1) the sponsors and (2) the Legislature and the GIA expending agency.

4. List the measure(s) of effectiveness that will be reported to the State agency through which grant funds are appropriated (the expending agency). The measure(s) will provide a standard and objective way for the State to assess the program's achievement or accomplishment. Please note that if the level of appropriation differs from the amount included in this application that the measure(s) of effectiveness will need to be updated and transmitted to the expending agency.

HEC's Hawaii European Film Festival has been growing at a phenomenal rate, with rapidly expanding audiences demanding more and more films. Since the Festival is dedicated to keeping the event free of charge for all viewers, HEC has had to raise rapidly increasing private, government and corporate funding in order to maintain the Festival and support this unparalleled growth.

Up until now, HEC has done so primarily through the amazing volunteer efforts of our Board of Directors, and without the support of a professional development staff.

Funding from this GIA will finally make it possible for:

(1) HEC to invest in a more formal strategic planning process for controlled growth, while also playing an even stronger role in attracting and maintaining the interest of foreign and mainland filmmakers who are considering filming investment in Hawaii.

(2) Also, to contract with a respected fund development professional who will establish a more strategically diversified range of funding sources in order to ensure the Festival's long term financial sustainability – a sustainability without future dependence upon government grants and support.
