Aloha

We are Puma Punku Ocean Clean Up, Inc. (PPOCU), a non-profit 501 C 3 based in Honolulu, Hawaii. Our mission: To create a clean and safe environment for this, and future generations of our keiki (children), to instill a love of, and will to care for the moana (ocean), and to enjoy being part of it as our kupunas (elders) once did. We believe that your organization cares as deeply as we do about such urgent needs at this time in world history, and humbly request funding support from your organization.

PPOCU is aligned with global visions for a clean ecosystem. We plan to help Hawaii be at the forefront of this movement by cleaning Hawaii’s ocean, beaches and waterways. We need help to really make Hawaii the “paradise” that it once was.

PPOCU cleanups are currently focused at Ala Wai Boat Harbor. We started there in 2015 and pulled out 4 tons of plastic and debris! Despite our limited resources, following cleanups netted another 18 tons of plastic and debris. Ala Wai Boat harbor is the tip of the iceberg for our ambitious visions.

There is much local community interest in the hard work of PPOCU volunteers at the Ala Wai Boat Harbor: we have been featured 10 times on KHNL, KITV, KGMB and KHON news channels. We have also received a glowing review by Ron Mizutani in the MidWeek newspaper, and have been featured on John Nolan’s radio show 4 times. This work is timely and desperately needed.

We respectfully request your support to continue the work and legacy.

Phase I: Create an educational, interactive learning environment for community volunteers and children in schools to create awareness about taking care of the ocean, waterways and beaches. Not only would the physical connection with the environment be strengthened by hands-on activities such as picking up and clearing debris, but also, the community would gain first-hand knowledge about the impact of pollution on Hawaii’s ocean environment.

Funds at this stage will be used to purchase safety & cleaning equipment. Phase I is vital to build a solid and strategic foundation for sustainability.

Phase II: Community outreach with educational commercials and programs with high profile supporters (Nainoa Thompson and Bruce Blankenfeld – Hokule’a Captains; retired ship captains; ocean lifeguards; koa canoe builders, beach-boys, mariners, etc.). This will raise greater awareness of the importance of our goals, and deepen community involvement by creating a larger pool of volunteers, donors and grass roots movements. Our sustainability business model also includes fundraisers from music and entertainment concerts. We have many supporters in professional entertainment (singers, hula dancers, and musicians) who have pledged to donate their time.

Phase III:
We will partner with the University of Hawaii, Department of Oceanography, to study and test areas of pollution and assess the environmental impact on the ocean waters, reefs and aquatic life. This will be a precursor to larger-scale cleanup projects.

Next, rentals of small cranes and barges will be used to target ocean and waterway debris inaccessible by land. PPOCU has years of experience, licensed volunteer crane operators and ship captains to carry out these specialized projects. We will expand operations to all of the Hawaiian Islands on an as needed and special project basis, as requested by the community leaders.

PPOCU currently operates from private and personal donations

With your support, our Hawaiian Island culture and stunning natural environment will live on for generations to come. You will be gratefully acknowledged on any and all commercials, printed copy, and other marketing material.

We would sincerely welcome an opportunity to discuss our mission and vision with you personally and to see how we may promote and reward your generous support.

Please contact me should you have any questions.

We look forward to your consideration.

Me ke aloha pumehana...
