A BILL FOR AN ACT

RELATING TO HEALTH.

BE IT ENACTED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF HAWAII:

SECTION 1. The legislature finds that every woman who chooses to give birth or considers giving birth in Hawaii has the right to access information on the birthing process, to make informed decisions about her birthing plan, to express her choices and preference, and to choose her care provider. As part of her rights, a woman may choose to seek practitioners of the midwife model of care for care and treatment before, during, and after her pregnancy.

The midwife model of care is based on treating pregnancy and childbirth as normal life events and encourages hands-on care before, during, and after pregnancy. The midwife model of care includes:

(1) Monitoring the physical, psychological, and social well-being of the woman throughout the childbearing cycle;

(2) Providing the woman with individualized education, counseling, and prenatal care; continuous hands-on assistance during labor and delivery; and postpartum support;

(3) Minimizing technological interventions; and

(4) Identifying and referring women who require obstetrical attention.

The purpose of this Act is to ensure women have access to both information about the practice of midwifery, including practices that protect or promote traditional native Hawaiian and other indigenous or cultural birth practices, and birth practitioners who follow the midwife model of care.

SECTION 2. Chapter 321, part XXV, Hawaii Revised Statutes, is amended by adding a new section to be appropriately designated and to read as follows:

"§321- Midwifery. (a) Consumers shall have access to multiple routes of midwifery care and midwifery pathways to allow them to choose a birth plan and birth practitioner that supports their cultural or religious beliefs.

(b) Traditional native Hawaiian and other indigenous or cultural beliefs and practices may be exercised to the fullest extent allowed under applicable federal law.
(c) Notwithstanding any provision to the contrary in this chapter, birth practitioners shall ensure consumer access to all pertinent birth education information and materials. Such educational materials and midwifery care shall be provided in a form and manner to ensure the consumer is able to comprehend what is being communicated to them."

SECTION 3. New statutory material is underscored.

SECTION 4. This Act shall take effect on July 1, 2019.
