A BILL FOR AN ACT

RELATING TO THE HAWAI'I SCHOOL FOR THE DEAF AND BLIND.

BE IT ENACTED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF HAWAII:

SECTION 1. The legislature finds that the National Association of State Directors of Special Education (NASDSE) recommends that decisions affecting Deaf, Hard of Hearing, and Deaf-Blind students be made by individuals knowledgeable about these students' educational needs. In Hawai'i, there has been a public school on O'ahu operated by the department of education (DOE) for the education of Deaf, Hard of Hearing, and Deaf-Blind students since 1914. The school is currently known as the Hawai'i School for the Deaf and Blind (HSDB).

The legislature further finds that over the first century of the school's existence, there has been a lack of administrators within the DOE who are experienced and knowledgeable in Deaf education and fluent in American Sign Language (ASL). This lack of expertise by the DOE administration has raised concerns about whether the school is being adequately managed. For example, principals and vice-principals have been appointed who have no expertise in Deaf Education, no expertise in ASL-English Bilingual Education, and no expertise in ASL. There has also been an atmosphere of audism, audism being a form of discrimination aimed at persons who are Deaf and the actions that Deaf persons engage in to communicate. At the HSDB, audism is evidenced by hearing people with no expertise in the education of Deaf, Hard of Hearing, and Deaf-Blind students believing that they are best qualified to make educational decisions for these students. It has also often meant the exclusion of Deaf stakeholders in the decision-making process.

The legislature concludes that for the HSDB to be successful, it needs independent oversight, similar to the structure of other schools focused on Deaf students such as the Colorado School for the Deaf and the Blind (CSDB), California School for the Deaf (Riverside and Fremont), and Maryland School for the Deaf. Colorado established a Board of Trustees for the CSDB within the Colorado DOE structure and that school is one of the most successful schools in the nation for the education of Deaf individuals.

An independent, expertise-driven Board of Trustees for the HSDB will be able to expedite DOE appropriations needed by the school and ensure that timely decisions are made. For example, state appropriations specific to the HSDB are not received for several months until after the fiscal year begins in July, often not until October, causing financial hardship as the school attempts to meet the needs of its students. There are facilities' issues such as the showers in the male dormitory needing to be repaired, forcing male students to walk across campus in order to take a shower. The hiring of teachers takes months and has resulted in prospective teachers finding employment elsewhere.

An independent, expertise-driven Board of Trustees will also be able to foster an accurate understanding of student achievement. Currently, HSDB students are required to take state tests which are not normed for Deaf, Hard of Hearing, and Deaf-Blind students, resulting in a false image of the school as underachieving. In 2019, for the first time in over 100 years, the HSDB received national accreditation from the Accrediting Commission for Schools (ACS), Western Association of Schools & Colleges (WASC). WASC report stated that the HSDB "is doing a vital and life-changing job that supports high achievement for Deaf students. This 'high achievement' may not be evident in the standardized assessment scores, but it is very evident while observing the excellent education being delivered in the classroom, on the field, and in student interaction on campus."

An independent, expertise-driven Board of Trustees will also enable the HSDB to engage in early intervention services. The HSDB currently is unable to provide educational services to children from birth to three years of age or to their parents. These formative years of language acquisition are critical to the future academic and linguistic success of HSDB students.

The need to provide early intervention has been identified by the state but these services are designated to the Department of Health (DOH). The HSDB, working collaboratively with the DOH, can be another option for parents and children.

The purpose of this Act is to ensure that the needs of the Deaf, Hard of Hearing, and Deaf-Blind students of Hawai‘i are met by establishing an independent governance structure for the Hawai‘i School for the Deaf and Blind.

SECTION 2. Chapter 302A, Hawaii Revised Statutes, is amended by adding a new part to be appropriately designated and to read as follows:
