URGING THE UNIVERSITY OF HAWAII TO DEVELOP AND IMPLEMENT UNDERGRADUATE TEACHER EDUCATION DEGREE PROGRAMS ON EACH NEIGHBOR ISLAND.

WHEREAS, there is a statewide shortage of certified instructors to adequately serve the educational needs of Hawaii's K-12 public school students; and

WHEREAS, five hundred eight emergency hires taught public school students during the 2018-2019 school year, but there were five hundred twenty-one additional vacancies that remained unfilled, reflecting a vacuum in licensed educators; and

WHEREAS, the number of Hawaii education program graduates has declined sharply within the past decade, falling from five hundred forty-four in the 2012-2013 academic year to three hundred eighty in the 2017-2018 academic year; and

WHEREAS, Hawaii has demonstrated worsening teacher retention rates, with the number of teachers leaving Hawaii increasing by over seventy percent since 2012; and

WHEREAS, neighbor island school complexes exhibit some of the highest percentages of emergency hires and vacancies, including thirty-five percent of teachers in Lanai, nineteen percent of teachers in Hana, and fifteen percent of teachers in Molokai; and

WHEREAS, Hawaii State Approved Teacher Education Programs offering undergraduate degrees have not yet been established on any of the neighbor islands; and

WHEREAS, offering undergraduate teaching degrees on all the neighbor islands will provide neighbor island students with equal access to pursuing degrees in teacher education and serving the unique educational needs of their communities; now, therefore,

BE IT RESOLVED by the Senate of the Thirtieth Legislature of the State of Hawaii, Regular Session of 2020, the House of Representatives concurring, that the University of Hawaii is urged to develop and implement undergraduate teacher education degree programs on each neighbor island; and complex areas to develop teacher education pathways for high school students to enroll in undergraduate
